Shayna is an attractive young woman who is slim, but not tiny. She is a mature person with a distinct personality that is appreciated by her friends and family. She has a great sensitivity to people. She was in Miriam Swerdlow's program, and was voted the Eishes Chayil in the second week, as the girls appreciated how she understood who in the group needed attention and had unmet needs. Shayna is a frum girl who cares about her צניעות. She dresses in a classic manner but always well put together and neat. She is currently studying Graphics at Touro and is in her second year, with another semester after this year is completed. She works meticulously and is careful to detail as is noticed in her choice of graphic arts, which requires that attention, and she is organized. Shayna is not loud, and does not need to be the center of the party, nor is she quiet. She is quite a refined and balanced girl, not tending to extremes.

Shayna would like to build a chassidishe, open home. She is open to going on shlichus, or not. The job of the person is not the tell tale criterion for her. Her home will be a shlichus home no matter what her husband does for פרנסה. She wants to marry someone who is sincerely frum and mentchlich. She wants someone who will be responsible for the family in terms of פרנסה. If he wants shlichus and it does not work out, she wants to know there is a plan B and not just waiting in Crown Heights for a position. She is not particular as to the height of the bochur, but prefers someone who is the same height, or taller than her.

Shayna is distinguished by her pleasant manners and pride in her אידישקייט, and strong care of חסידישע values.
