Age 25, 6'1

Description: YD is a solid Lubavitch bocher: mikva, minyan, and chavrousa each evening wears only white shirts and does not touch his beard. He is very careful with mitzvos and the Rebbe's directives. He is a warm quieter bocher, a trusted and caring listener, bright and intuitive, kind and mentchlich - a "do the right thing" kind of person, laid back and very real, creative with a great sense of humor. Yiddishkiet, life, work... he takes them all with a great sense of responsibility, devotion, and integrity. Family is very important to him - he is the oldest of nine children in a close family, where kindness, middos, resourcefulness laughter and chayis are highly valued. He loves children and enjoys getting together with family and friends.

Unique: YD is a solid Lubavitch bocher with smicha, and working for a company as a web developer. He is very bright and learned in both Torah and secular studies, and has interests and knowledge in both: He enjoys kosher music, science and technology, science fiction, and especially finding humor in life.

Seeking: YD is looking for a wife who is kind, tznius, warm, mentchlich, solid in her yiddishkiet, and the Rebbes directives, creative and resourceful, caring of others, nonjudgmental, with good middos and integrity. Someone who holds family first. Someone with the same combination of being broadminded and solid, laid back and joyful, with a sense of humor.

His home: YD wants to build a home where family is first, with an emphasis on kindness, middos, respect, chayis and joy! and a marriage where there is true partnership in creating this.

Surprises: none really... he is really what you see. Perhaps how really funny he really can be!- unique sense of humor! How he is a leader - in a quiet and respected style. How he can look at something and really see good where others may not notice.
