YS values the opportunity to build relationships with all types of people; she is compassionate and generous with a positive, energetic personality. Yehudis knows how to relax, appreciates the outdoors, values health and fitness and loves spending time with family and friends. She is an intelligent and well-balanced individual with sound judgment and common sense. She comes from a warm and stable Chabad family and very much desires an open home. Yehudis is looking for a husband who is family oriented, kind and generous, intelligent and focused. She would prefer someone working or pursuing a profession but Yiddishkeit and family must be a priority.
